Dear Early Child Care and Education Partners,

As we at the Department of Early Care and Learning (DECAL) look ahead to 2018 and reflect back over 2017, I can't help but think about one major area of our work that consumed much of our time and resources AND that impacted many of you and the families you serve: The Childcare and Parent Services (CAPS) program.

Last year, DECAL assumed responsibility for administering ALL components of CAPS as the eligibility function of the program transitioned from the Division of Family and Children Services (DFCS) to DECAL. We planned for the transition to take place in three "waves" to give us time to hire and train staff and to test and tweak processes for administering the program. Unfortunately, however, the "waves" converged to become a TSUNAMI that swept over DECAL CAPS staff unexpectedly.

BUT, slowly but surely, newly hired and trained CAPS staff have been working diligently to decrease the backlog of CAPS applications and renewals AND to set in place policies and procedures for new CAPS applicants moving forward.

I thank you for your patience and understanding during this transition. As I've reviewed our re-visioning of the CAPS program to align it with enhancing early education instead of just paying for child care, I'm excited for the children and families who benefit from the program. I truly believe that once the challenge of the backlog is resolved and we're able to begin really supporting families to move them toward self-sufficiency that Georgia will have one of the most successful subsidized child care programs in the country.

And, of course, we couldn't accomplish any of this without you...who care for Georgia's children day in and day out in child care learning centers and in family child care learning homes. Thank you for your service.

Best wishes for the New Year; I hope 2018 is a banner year for us all.

Sincerely,
Amy M. Jacobs
Commissioner

DECAL Launches Georgia SEEDS for Success Initiative

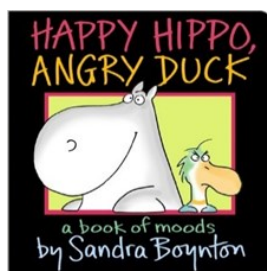

Are you looking for strategies to use to teach social emotional and behavioral skills to the children in your program? Are you searching for effective and positive ways to respond to challenging behavior in your classroom?

DECAL is proud to announce the launch of the Georgia Social Emotional Early Development Strategies (SEEDS) for Success Initiative. This initiative includes training, web-based resources and more for teachers, administrators and families.

Our SEEDS for Story Time guides are a great example of the resources available. Using popular children's books like Don't Let the Pigeon Drive the Bus, Happy Hippo, Angry Duck and My Mouth is a Volcano, DECAL has created guides with engaging activities such as art projects, games, and fun music and movement activities that teachers can use to use to promote and enhance social and emotional development in infants, toddlers and pre-schoolers. These activities can be embedded in natural classroom routines and activities and they are linked to the GELDS---making lesson planning easy!

Check out the SEEDS for Story Time and other great resources on our SEEDS webpage

Georgia's Pre-K Program 2017-2018 Teachers of the Year

Each school year, DECAL and the Naserian Foundation name one teacher from a public school system and one teacher from a private child care center, as Georgia's Pre-K Program Teachers of the Year. The teachers serve as ambassadors for Georgia's Pre-K Program, making presentations, attending meetings, and modeling effective classroom practices. The winners for the 2017-2018 school year are Jodi McNamara from Kids R Kids #49 in Lawrenceville and Nathan Leatherwood from Calhoun Pre-K.

Each February, lead Pre-K teachers who have taught for a minimum of three years are invited to apply for Teacher of the Year. Applicants must also meet Georgia's Pre-K credential and Professional Development Registry requirements and plan to continue as a lead teacher for the coming year. Their school must be in good standing with all programs administered by DECAL (Pre-K, Child Care Services, Childcare and Parent Services [CAPS] and Nutrition Services).

In May 2017, six finalists for Georgia's Pre-K Program Teachers of the Year were announced. This fall, all of them were interviewed and underwent a classroom evaluation. They were also visited by DECAL Commissioner Amy Jacobs and Stephanie Blank, CEO of the Naserian Foundation, which is sponsoring the statewide program.

The Pre-K Teacher of the Year program serves as an opportunity to recognize and honor outstanding Pre-K teachers who are committed to ensuring that Georgia's children have a great Pre-K experience.

Region 5: Getting to Know Your CCR&R Staff

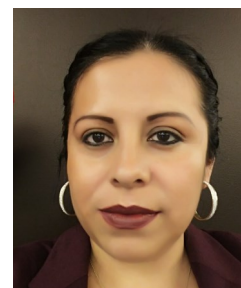

Renetta Britt, Technical Assistance Coordinator

Renetta is excited to be a part of the CCR&R of Southeast Georgia! She comes with a background of over fifteen years of experience working with children. Renetta has served in the capacities of camp instructor, before and after school care, youth leader at her church, classroom teacher for the Richmond County School System, and director of a learning center. She has worked on her undergrad degree in Early Childhood Education at both Georgia Southern and Augusta Universities. Renetta is looking forward to what lies ahead as she pursues this journey in working with centers to help foster quality care for our children and their families.

Letty Kinslow, Technical Assistance Coordinator

Letty is really excited to be part of the CCR&R team. She has worked with children of all ages since 2001 and worked as a Curriculum and Training Manager for a child care center for the past three years. Teaching has been a passion since a very young age. Letty enjoys working with children, teachers and family members. She truly believes that it takes a team to provide high quality care. Letty has created and delivered training for early childhood educators and she enjoys helping classrooms flourish. On December 7th, Letty completed her Master's Degree in Adult Education and Community Leadership.

Region 5: Changes Within the Agency

Kristin Goetz, Professional Learning Manager

Kristin has been in the ECE field for over twenty years, in Missouri, Arizona, and Georgia. She started as a nanny and moved to teaching children in groups; beginning with Pre-K and eventually settling into her first passion of working with infants and toddlers. She held administrative roles in child care centers including serving in the director role, which ignited her second passion of working with teachers and administrators. Kristin has been serving as a coach/trainer almost ten years now and is grateful to serve in her role as Professional Learning Manager for Region 5. She is responsible for planning and providing training opportunities for Region 5 along with other forms of professional development for educators, including face-to-face training sessions, online and blended training opportunities, and Professional Learning Communities. The Professional Learning Department in our Region also conducts marketing activities to grow the number of Quality Rated program participants, works with other regional training entities to bring larger conferences to the region, and partners with other regional committees and community groups in order to support ECE initiatives and bring information to families and communities. Kristin also assists with the DECAL PLC Facilitators Program to help grow the number of certified PLC Facilitators in our state.

Rachale LaVoie, Community Outreach Coordinator

In addition to her previous duties, Rachale will promote, organize, facilitate, and attend community events to inform the community about Quality Rated within all 34 counties in Region 5. She will play a key role in creating, maintaining, and collaborating with unlikely (non-ECE centered) business partners to enhance community partnerships within the region. She will also provide assistance and resources to community partners to reach community, region, and state deliverables. Rachale is currently busy finishing her Master's in Management and Leadership. She feels this credential will be most beneficial to helping her create and maintain community partnerships.

Jenna Tucker, Fiscal Coordinator

Jenna has been with the CCR&R for almost four years, starting out as the Administrative Support Assistant, then transitioning into the role of Operations Coordinator. She has a Master's of Business Administration with a Specialization in Leadership from Liberty University, which has prepared her for her new role of Fiscal Coordinator. In her free time, Jenna is involved in her church, likes to spend time with her friends, and reading a good book with a strong cup of coffee.

Region 5: Quality Rated Endorsements

“Participating in technical assistance, we learned a lot about language and interactions and how to handle different situations. We are more aware of how to better support individual children throughout the day. We notice the children respond differently and are more engaged in our program.”

Allison’s Learning Center, Swainsboro, GA

“Participating in Quality Rated technical assistance did not add to the workload but rather enhanced my best practices in the classroom.” - Leah Watkins

Chapel Christian Academy, Lyons, GA

“I have been the owner and director of a child care facility for approximately two years. As a relatively new owner, I found the Quality Rated process informative, supportive, and relative to my goals as a child care provider. Initially, I avoided the idea of becoming Quality Rated due to negative feedback and fear of the unknown. Although the process was intense at times, it was specific to the needs and quality of care for the children. My technical assistance coordinator provided the information, techniques, and support that helped to guide my staff and I to a successful outcome - Quality Rated!” - Kathy Blige

Kat’s Little Angels Daycare, Savannah, GA

“I would recommend Quality Rated to anyone considering going into child care. It prepares you to better care for the children and families that you serve. Participating in Quality Rated, teaches you so much about the process of improving the quality of your program and the process was very helpful. I’ve had more calls and inquiries for child care now that my program has been rated, than I’ve ever had before. Plus with my rating, I’m now marketable to a broader audience of parents. Quality Rated pushed me to go above and beyond. It made me aware of what I was doing well and what I could be doing better.

After being rated, the package I received was amazing because I now have all kinds of materials to put out for children from birth to school-age. These new tools and equipment will provide the children with all kinds of great experiences.”

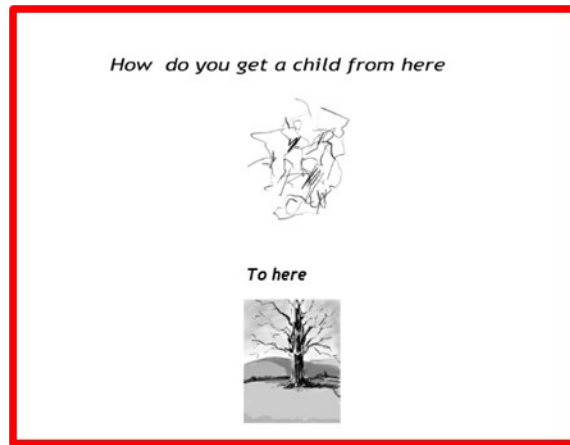

Mrs. Mary Grant, Savannah, GA

The recently 2-Star rated, stand-alone school-age program, Prime Time Discovery – Tobacco Road in Augusta was celebrated by their corporate office on Friday, December 8th.

Teacher Tips: Creative Artwork

Submitted by Cindy Beecher,
Technical Assistance Coordinator

Very often, we think that a child's artwork needs to look like something. We even sometimes like to give children an example or offer them specific colors they need to use when creating their masterpieces. But what exactly does this teach them? It may teach them to follow directions or learn colors, but will it teach them to be creative, critical thinkers? More often than not, it will make them frustrated because they cannot make their artwork look like the example you showed them. They will think the apple can only be red or the sky blue.

Art that encourages creative thinking and allows children to come up with their own unique solutions encourages out-of-the-box thinking and also stimulates their brain to grow new neurons. Freedom of expression in art leads to creative expression in other areas as well. It is an essential foundation for reading, writing, mathematics and scientific reasoning.

Here are some ways you can encourage creative artwork in your classroom:

- Offer a variety of materials and tools daily for the children to interact with during free play. Don't have a specific outcome in mind.
- Think "out of the box" as a teacher. Art does not just need to be paint and paint brushes. Try bubble painting, running cars through the paint, or using things in nature such as leaves or pine cones.
- Have smocks or old t-shirts available so children can feel free to get "messy".
- Have large paper on hand; this will encourage children to work together.
- Create a "junk box" with a variety of collage materials in it.
- Take art materials outdoors.
- Encourage children to express their feelings through artwork.
- Let children hang their masterpieces up in the classroom.
- Ask children to tell you about their creation and ask them if it is all right for you to write what they said on their artwork.
- Encourage them to share their artwork during circle time.

By encouraging children to be creative artists and allowing them to express themselves, you will be creating creative thinkers. Remember, it is all about the process, not the product.

Such a simple recipe to use with children of all ages and abilities with just a few minor adjustments to enhance learning and fun for everyone! You can add more items also such as chocolate chips or dates. Add a chart with words, numbers, and pictures. Talk to children as they work asking many questions to help with language and communication.

Watercolor Crayon Resist Art

Children can learn so much through art! This winter children can relate what you have taught them to their art activities. I love to read stories and share information then see what they can creatively come up with in the art center that pertains to our theme or whatever they choose to create!

Step 1: Provide paper, crayons, water color paint and resist definition.

Crayon will repel the water color away from it.

The paper can be any type and any color that the children choose. White crayon and white paper is preferred to get the full effect but the varying ideas of creativity that the children have will be good for experimenting and comparing differences.

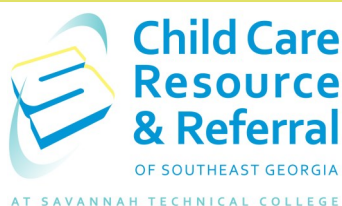

Step 2: Children will draw on their paper with crayons.

Step 3: Use watercolor paints and encourage the children to paint all over their paper. They can use just one color or many! If your children are beginners at using watercolors, make sure they are using plenty of water mixed with the paint.

It is important that during the drawing and painting steps that you ask many questions and see if children understand why the watercolors are resisting the crayon. Talk about how crayons are made of a wax material. Here are a few question suggestions for any art activity:

1. What can you tell me about your picture
2. How did you get the idea for this picture?
3. What do you like about your picture?
4. What title would you give this work? Why did you...
5. How were you feeling when you made this picture? How do you hope other people will feel when they look at your picture?
