

Are You an Early Care & Education Professional Serving Active Duty, Guard or Reserve Military Families? We're Here for You!

Information, resources and support for child care programs serving military families are available. But knowing where to look and having the time to search are daunting obstacles.

That's why I'm so excited to let you know about Child Care & Military Families Learning Network, a project whose goal is to make it easy to find:

- Information about the impact of military life on young children and families
- Strategies for supporting children and parents
- Resources to support your work with military families, and
- Conversations with other professionals who understand the rewards and challenges of caring for children from military families.

In short, we create and manage online spaces totally devoted to the rewards and challenges of working with military parents and their young children. All you have to do is connect with us:

P.S. We'd love to hear your opinion about using online social media as it relates to your work with military families. Please take a few minutes to complete our brief survey. Your responses will help us create social media channels that better reflect your preferences and uses.

Start the Survey

Complete the survey by the end of this month and you will be entered into a drawing for a copy of:

Deployment: Strategies for Working with Military Families, by Dr. Karen Petty, a book packed full of ideas and wisdom for early childhood programs.

* Our project is part of a larger partnership between the U.S. Dept. of Defense and the Cooperative Extension System whose aim is to support military families by supporting the professionals who work with them.
